

VIT®
BHOPAL
www.vitbhopal.ac.in

VIT BHOPAL UNIVERSITY
FACULTY OF ENGLISH SCHOOL OF
APPLIED SCIENCES &
LANGUAGES
ONE WORD SUBSTITUTE

| S. No. | Explanation                                    | Word          |
|--------|------------------------------------------------|---------------|
| 1      | Someone who regards the world as their country | Cosmopolitan  |
| 2      | Someone who lives in solitude                  | Recluse       |
| 3      | Someone who speaks more than one language      | Polyglot      |
| 4      | Someone who loves himself the most             | Narcissist    |
| 5      | The one who knows everything                   | Omniscient    |
| 6      | The one who is all powerful                    | Omnipotent    |
| 7      | Someone who is eighty years old                | Octogenarian  |
| 8      | The one who makes maps or charts               | Cartographer  |
| 9      | The supervising person during an examination   | Invigilator   |
| 10     | Someone who is a custodian of a museum         | Curator       |
| 11     | Someone employed to drive a car                | Chauffer      |
| 12     | The place where coins are made                 | Mint          |
| 13     | The approach or style of teaching              | Pedagogy      |
| 14     | One who is expelled from a religious community | Excommunicate |
| 15     | The act of killing a king                      | Regicide      |

|    |                                                                |               |
|----|----------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|
| 16 | One who spends a lot of money                                  | Spendthrift   |
| 17 | Fear of thunder and lightning                                  | Astraphobia   |
| 18 | A group of worshippers                                         | Congregation  |
| 19 | A series of stars                                              | Constellation |
| 20 | Ordinary and dull                                              | Mundane       |
| 21 | Someone who is wrongly blamed for things that others have done | Scapegoat     |
| 22 | Events manifested by festivities                               | Fiesta        |
| 23 | One who is very particular about details and accuracy          | Fastidious    |
| 24 | Spoken or done without preparation                             | Extempore     |
| 25 | An imaginary ideal society                                     | Utopia        |
| 26 | A thing that is kept as a reminder of a person, place or event | Souvenir      |
| 27 | A solution or remedy for all difficulties or diseases          | Panacea       |
| 28 | Government not connected with religious or spiritual matters   | Secular       |
| 29 | A place where bees are kept or a collection of beehives        | Apiary        |
| 30 | A collection of weapons and military equipment                 | Arsenal       |
| 31 | Absence of government                                          | Anarchy       |
| 32 | One who calculates premium                                     | Actuary       |
| 33 | A person who can use both hands equally well                   | Ambidextrous  |
| 34 | People who work together                                       | Colleagues    |
| 35 | A person who is above hundred years                            | Centenarian   |
| 36 | A study of races                                               | Ethnology     |
| 37 | A thing that is fit to be eaten                                | Edible        |
| 38 | Inscription of a tombstone                                     | Epitaph       |
| 39 | A study of derivation of words                                 | Etymology     |
| 40 | A member of the middle class                                   | Bourgeois     |
| 41 | To turn friends in enemies                                     | Alienate      |
| 42 | Free somebody from blame or guilt                              | Exonerate     |
| 43 | A position for which no salary is paid                         | Honorary      |

|    |                                                         |                    |
|----|---------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|
| 44 | One who is unable to pay his debts                      | Insolvent          |
| 45 | Not applicable                                          | Irrelevant         |
| 46 | That which cannot be conquered                          | Invincible         |
| 47 | A thing no longer in use                                | Obsolete           |
| 48 | One who is new to a trade or profession                 | Novice             |
| 49 | A drug or substance that induces sleep                  | Soporific          |
| 50 | One who has no money                                    | Pauper             |
| 51 | One who copies from other writers                       | Plagiarist         |
| 52 | Science of coins or medals                              | Numismatics        |
| 53 | One who hates mankind                                   | Misanthrope        |
| 54 | One who does not drink wine                             | Teetotaller        |
| 55 | One who cures eye diseases                              | Oculist            |
| 56 | One who has irresistible tendency to steal              | Kleptomaniac       |
| 57 | One who has special skill in judging art or music       | Connoisseur        |
| 58 | A cluster of houses in a village                        | Hamlet             |
| 59 | A place thought of as the opposite to utopia            | Dystopia           |
| 60 | Free from infection                                     | Immune             |
| 61 | The art of effective speaking                           | Elocution          |
| 62 | The study of human mind                                 | Psychology         |
| 63 | A disease that spreads over a large area                | Epidemic           |
| 64 | A person who eats too much                              | Glutton            |
| 65 | Which cannot be removed                                 | Indelible          |
| 66 | Which cannot be corrected                               | Incorrigible       |
| 67 | One who knows many languages                            | Linguist           |
| 68 | An event that takes places after the death of a person  | Posthumous (event) |
| 69 | A general pardon for political offenders                | Amnesty            |
| 70 | A name adopted by an author in his writings             | Pseudonym          |
| 71 | Deriving pleasure from the pain or sufferings of others | Sadism             |
| 72 | A person appointed by two parties to solve a dispute    | Arbitrator         |

|    |                                                                                                                      |              |
|----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| 73 | A collection of historical documents or records providing information about a place, institution, or group of people | Archives     |
| 74 |                                                                                                                      |              |
| 75 | Money that is owed and should have been paid earlier                                                                 | Arrears      |
| 76 | Lists of the books referred to in a scholarly work, typically printed as an appendix                                 | Bibliography |
| 77 | Large amount of rain that suddenly falls in an area                                                                  | Deluge       |
| 78 | An angry and usually long speech or piece of writing that strongly criticizes someone or something                   | Diatribes    |
| 79 | Feelings of great excitement and happiness                                                                           | Euphoria     |
| 80 | Journals or newspapers, especially the official one of an organization or institution                                | Gazette      |
| 81 |                                                                                                                      |              |
| 82 | A line of descent traced continuously from an ancestor                                                               | Genealogy    |
| 83 | Someone who attacks cherished ideas or institutions                                                                  | Iconoclast   |
| 84 | One who is unable to pay his debts                                                                                   | Insolvent    |
| 85 | A sentimental longing or wistful affection for a period in the past                                                  | Nostalgia    |
| 86 | Japanese art of folding paper into shapes that look like birds, animals, etc.                                        | Origami      |
| 87 | Doctor's opinion about how someone will recover from an illness or injury                                            | Prognosis    |
| 88 | In a very bad condition and needing to be repaired                                                                   | Ramshackle   |
| 89 | Giving a summary of something                                                                                        | Recapitulate |
| 90 | The art of effective or persuasive speaking or writing                                                               | Rhetoric     |
| 91 | Regular period of sleep or rest in the afternoon in some hot countries                                               | Siesta       |
| 92 | Someone who walks in sleep                                                                                           | Somnambulist |
| 93 | Using tricks specially to hide, avoid, or get something                                                              | Subterfuge   |
| 94 | Rights to vote in an election                                                                                        | Suffrage     |
| 95 | Made to be useful rather than to be decorative or comfortable                                                        | Utilitarian  |
| 96 | One who possesses outstanding technical ability in a particular art or field                                         | Virtuoso     |
| 97 | Opinions or beliefs of the majority                                                                                  | Vox Populi   |
| 98 | Passages between rows of seats in a building such as a                                                               | Aisle        |

|            |                                                                                                                     |           |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 99  | church or theatre, an aircraft, or train                                                                            | Asie      |
| 100 | Collectable object such as a piece of furniture or work of art that has a high value because of its age and quality | Antique   |
| 101 | An action of making amends for a wrong or injury                                                                    | Atonement |
| 102 | Very big and powerful companies or organisations                                                                    | Behemoth  |